Artist Statement

My photography attempts to capture the ephemeral, often what I find in nature and urban environments. Simple moments in the world around me inspire me to document what so often seems like it is slipping away—a cloudy sky, a blooming flower, a perfect sunset. Much of my photography is spontaneous, shot on my phone because of its convenience in my daily life. Contrast, both in color and scale, also defines my photos as I attempt to understand how I fit into the world. My work reflects both an appreciation for the beauty of the natural world and a desire to slow down and notice those fleeting moments that leave all too quickly.
